Director's Desktop: While Away Your Winter by Learning a New Craft or Skill at CLPL

Executive Director
Becky Fyolek

Winter is the perfect time to cozy up with a new hobby. Personally, I'm a knitter, but I also enjoy the occasional cross stitch or embroidery project, and I'm learning to crochet. These are all great ways to pass the time during the cold months of winter. If you'd like to learn a new skill in person, your Crystal Lake Public Library has lots of options this winter!

Adults: We've lined up two multigenerational programs: Crochet for Beginners on Thursday, Jan. 18, and Knitting for Beginners on Thursday, Feb. 15. Both programs are open to adults and to kids in 5th grade and up.

The Paddock Street Writers Group will resume Tuesdays, Jan. 23 and Feb. 27. The guild provides an excellent opportunity for budding and accomplished writers to share their work with local writers and to gain inspiration.

Teens: Middle school students, come to the library and make journals to use as planners or memory books in our New Year Bullet Journals event Monday, Jan. 29. We'll also have a fun DIY Scented Slime program Wednesday, Jan. 31.

Dungeon and Dragons fans in grades 6-12 are invited to Paint a D&D Miniature on Monday, Feb. 26.

Kids: Get crafty at our ever popular Maker Academy:

Embroidery and Hand Sewing sessions for kids in grades 3-8 (and their caregivers) Tuesdays, Jan. 9 and Feb. 13.

If you like coding and painting, we've mixed both in Painting with Spheros slated for Monday, Jan. 15, which is a no-school day for District 47 students. We'll have two sessions, one for kids in grades 3-5 and another for grades 6-8. Our LEGO® Builders' Club will meet Thursdays, Jan. 18 and Feb. 22.

All Ages: Have you tried Creativebug? It's a database of thousands of step-by-step video instructions, supply lists and tips for every craft you may want to try. There are tutorials for makers of all ages and skill levels. Visit www.clpl.org/research/Creativebug to get started.

Need more recommendations? Stop by any of the library's service desks. We have lots of crafty, creative staff who would love to help you! Visit our calendar for program times and registration information at clpl.org.
